

Assoc. Prof. Georgios Rachiotis

Position:

Associate Professor of Epidemiology and Occupational Hygiene

Department:

Faculty of Medicine, Laboratory of Hygiene and Epidemiology

University:

University of Thessaly, Greece

Short Bio:

George Rachiotis graduated from the Medical School of the University of Athens. He completed a MSc at the National School of Public Health, while in 2002 he was awarded a PhD from the Medical School of the University of Athens. In 2004 he became a licensed Occupational Physician. During the period 2004-2006 he worked at the Department of Occupational and Environmental Medicine of the Royal Brompton & Harefield NHS Trust and the National Heart & Lung Institute at the Imperial College, UK. He is Associate Professor of Epidemiology and Occupational Hygiene at the Department of Medicine, University of Thessaly, Greece. His research interests include epidemiology and prevention of occupational diseases, smoking as well as the study of social determinants of health with emphasis on the effects of the economic crisis on health. He has published 91 articles in international biomedical peer-reviewed journals.

---