

Dr. Dorothee Dengler

Position:

Research Associate

Department:

Maritime Medicine

University:

Institute for Occupational and Maritime Medicine, University Medical Center Hamburg-Eppendorf, Germany

Short Bio:

She is a specialist in general medicine. She has been working in the Department of Maritime Medicine at the Institute of Occupational and Maritime Medicine since 2017. All aspects of medical activity in a maritime setting are part of her area of responsibility. For example, in the form of research into living and working conditions on board, training to improve medical care among seafarers (medical refresher courses) and preventive approaches on board. She has recently been involved in projects that also use digital media to improve the situation of seafarers.

Expertise:

general medicine; with regard to occupational medicine specialised in maritime medicine and mental health of seafarers